

Morning Journal.

BY THE ALBUQUERQUE PUBLISHING CO.

Five old porter drawn from the wood; wines and liquors for family and medicinal use; champagne and cigars at W. E. Talbot's, the only reliable wholesale house in New Mexico.

RUBS OF NEWS.

An excursion to Guaymas is to be given this month by the Santa Fe company.

The Republican ticket in Apache county, Arizona, was elected, defeating the Democratic Mormons.

Socorro wants a railroad to the Magdalena and the citizens are talking about voting bonds to accomplish this object.

That art gallery in Moses' sugar store has had a number of additions made to it during the last week. It is now nearly complete.

George Luzzader has again sold his interest in the Railroad Palace saloon to John W. Kennedy, who comes from the Atlantic and Pacific front.

The Scott family who came to Santa Fe to run the New Mexican and to show the New Mexico editors a thing or two have left the country in despair.

Masters & Walker, and T. H. Kennedy, have erected a street gas light in front of their places of business on Front street. It is a big improvement to that part of town.

Burt Armstrong, the painter, has just returned from an advertising trip to the Atlantic & Pacific front. He illuminated nature to the extent of several signs painted on the rocks at Manuelito, El Rita, Cañon Padre and Cañon Diablo.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe say their rolling stock is fully employed, and their earnings large beyond precedent. Their Guaymas branch was fully opened for business November 1st, and is expected to further increase their revenue.

The two enterprising managers who now have the opera house in charge are doing their best to please the public. They have now introduced two new stars in the persons of Fannie Burnham and George C. Ferrer, both of whom will delight any audience.

On Thursday morning a change in the management of the Rio Grande Hotel goes into effect. Mr. Graves, formerly of Cincinnati, but later of Kansas assumes control of the dining room, while Mr. Burris retains the lodging department. Mr. Graves intends to erect a bar and billiard room adjoining the house, on the west side.

If sufficient teams can be secured, Copper City will ship all its ore to the Hubbs smelter in this city. The ore is of a very rich quality, and will well repay the miners for bringing it so long a distance. This enterprise, if successful, and all now depends on the teamsters, will be a very large source of revenue to this city, larger than most people would imagine.

A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of M. C. Zirhut. It seems that Mr. Murray had been missing, at various times, lumber which he was using in erecting a house. He found some of his stolen property in the possession of Zirhut and caused his arrest. The latter proved satisfactorily that he was an innocent purchaser, and was discharged from custody, and Mr. Murray received his lumber.

The cook at the Oriental restaurant did the coward's act yesterday afternoon, in fact he did it so well that the King of Cows could not fail to be pleased with his achievement. He became involved in a family quarrel with his wife and made a brutal assault upon her on Second street, in open view of the public gaze. The action was one which should be punished to the full extent of the law.

The Pueblo Indians who were arrested at the instance of C. W. Lewis, of this city, charged with stealing sheep at Isleta were tried at Los Lunas yesterday and acquitted. The Pueblo Indians have a good reputation for honesty and fair dealing, and although there may be an occasional hard character among them, they are a people whose excellent habits their more civilized neighbors would do well to pattern after in many respects.

E. Cornistius went to the depot Monday night and purchased his ticket for California, intending to take the Pacific express for the land of sunshine. Amongst his baggage was a rifle which he set down in the waiting room where he left it without keeping an eye on it. When he went after his gun he found it missing. He notified the officers of his loss and postponed his trip. At last accounts the stolen property had not been recovered.

The Atlantic & Pacific railroad company has kindly offered to furnish stone and deliver it in Albuquerque to be used in the erection of a jail. This is a magnanimous offer, and the county commissioners should take advantage of it and furnish the money with which to build a substantial cage for the offenders against the law. A new jail must be built some time, and it can be done now cheaper than when the railroad company withdraws its offer of assistance.

Mr. Vincent Wallace has resigned as assistant cashier of the Central Bank and leaves this evening for Kingston New Mexico to take charge of the bank there. Mr. Wallace has made many friends during his residence here who will part with him reluctantly, and the bank loses a faithful and efficient officer. Norman C. Raff, who has for a long time been connected with the Central Bank succeeds Mr. Wallace as assistant cashier and will commence his new duties at once.

COURT CLOSED.

A Change of Venue Granted in the Sanchez Murder Case and John A. Taylor Granted a Divorce.

The Valencia county court at Los Lunas finished up its business yesterday and adjourned. The case of Patrio Gavaldour and Doratio Gavaldour, charged with the murder of Desiderio Sanchez on his ranch in Valencia county last May, was brought up. District Attorney Owen asked for a change of venue to Socorro county, and his request was granted by the court. The case will be tried in Socorro next Tuesday. The Sanchez murder was one of the most brutal and cold blooded tragedies that has occurred in New Mexico for a long time, and as the evidence is very conclusive against the men charged with the crime, it is very certain that they will be convicted.

Among other cases brought during the term of court just ended, was a suit for divorce brought by John A. Taylor against Ella L. Taylor. It will be remembered that Mrs. Taylor ran away with another fellow last summer and took with her several hundred dollars belonging to her husband. Full particulars were published in The Journal at the time, and they made very interesting reading. Mr. Taylor was granted his divorce, and he is no longer legally connected with his runaway wife.

Next week the court will take its stand in Socorro, and try to settle the differences existing between the people who disagree in that county.

Another Failure.

The Board of Trade Association attempted to hold another meeting last night. There were present at 8:20 the president and secretary of the association, two newspaper reporters and one or two others. It is needless to say that no business was transacted. The Board of Trade Association is to all intents and purposes a thing of the past. Not enough interest can be aroused among its members to draw out even a corporate guard to attend meetings. It is really too bad that this state of affairs exists, for the Board of Trade should be a powerful organization, and should have sufficient influence to do a vast deal of good for Albuquerque. The life and spirit which it once possessed has disappeared, and the association now exists only in name. If the Board of Trade does not brace up and do something, and throw off the lethargy which seems to have taken possession of it during the past few months, it had better disorganize and give up the room which it now occupies. Do either one of two things—quit entirely, or else pay more attention to business.

Tommy Escaped.

Santos Dominguez went to Bernillo Monday with the justification crowd. Santos is the man who has charge of the jail in old town, and when he left his prisoners were safe within the bastille. When he returned his little flock was minus Tommy Lynch, and what was worse, his store of valuables was minus a forty dollar watch, which he naturally presumed the restless Tommy carried away with him.

The manner of Lynch's escape, as reported, shows a rather bold dash for liberty on his part. One of the guards was induced by the prisoners in the cage to open the door, when Lynch rushed by him and made good his escape. The guard, it is said, was unarmed. No one escaped besides Lynch, and up to the present time he has not been found. Three weeks ago Lynch made a brutal and murderous assault upon George C. Ferrer, and came very near sending him over the river. It is perhaps, a good thing for the town that Lynch escaped, for it may be the means of inducing him to steer clear of Albuquerque for all time to come.

Death of an Albuquerque Boy.

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Breckenridge received a dispatch from Las Vegas, N. M., stating that Joseph Shoup had died there that morning. The family, and especially his mother, Mrs. Breckenridge, were greatly pained and treated with grief over the sudden and unlooked for news. The deceased was a young man well known in our community and had gone to New Mexico to seek his fortune. His many friends as well as relatives will be greatly pained over the sad ending of their unfortunate companion, and we tender our condolence to the family in their great affliction and grief.—Waterville (Kansas) Telegraph.

The deceased was for a long time a resident of Albuquerque, and for nearly a year was engaged as a driver on the street cars. He has many friends here who will feel many regrets at hearing of his death.

RAILROAD REVIEW.

The yard between the freight depot and the track is to be filled in with gravel.

Through travel to California is increasing, with the cold weather, over the Bananah line.

Elliott's work train passed through the city yesterday morning on its way to Algodones where new side tracks are to be built.

Another party of Boston excursionists, bound for California, were passengers on the south bound emigrant train yesterday morning.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad company is now having stock yards built on the east side of the track, directly opposite the Atlantic and Pacific machine shops. The increased shipments of stock to and from this station has necessitated this action.

And now they say that the end of the division is to be removed from Wallace to San Marcial. All appear to agree on one point at least, and that is that the days of Wallace are numbered, but whether San Marcial or Albuquerque will be made the terminus cannot be told.

Alpine tunnel, on the Gunnison extension of the South Park railroad and the first to pierce the main range of the Rocky mountains, is the highest railway tunnel in North America or Europe. The approaches of the Denver and South Park division of the Union Pacific on either side are marvels of engineering skill, laid through scenes unrivaled for grandeur and magnificence. Although the tunnel commences with a sharp curve at its eastern end, so nicely was the engineering done that when the workmen from either side met in the heart of the great snow range they found only about one inch variation of the respective bores.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad company is not only one of the greatest corporations in existence, but is one of the most enterprising and most liberal. When the road first reached Albuquerque the fare to Kansas City was $54.20. About a year ago the company voluntarily reduced the fare over $50, and now it again shows its liberality by cutting it down $8 more and placing the price of first-class tickets from Albuquerque to Kansas City at $40.85. Similar voluntary reductions have been made from time to time on freight rates, and there is every reason to believe that the company will continue to make concessions to its patrons as fast as its business will warrant. Just leave the Santa Fe company alone and you can rest assured that it will do the square thing.

The Mexican Central Railway company has in operation 523 miles of road, comprising 258 miles from the City of Mexico northward to Leon, 225 miles from El Paso, Texas, southward to Chihuahua, and thirty miles on the Gulf of Tampico division. The company expects that its main line, from the City of Mexico to Paso del Norte, will be finished early in 1884. The government of Mexico has granted to the company a cash subvention of $15,200 per mile. Exemption from duties on all materials required for the construction and repairs of the road for fifteen years; exemption from tonnage and light house dues and port charges upon all vessels landing railway material for fifteen years; and exemption from all taxes upon the road and all its accessories, including bridges, stock and all obligations for the term of fifteen years after the completion of the line.

PERSONAL PENCILINGS.

D. R. Miller, the roofing man, went north yesterday morning.

Col. Casey, the Valencia county ranchman, is in town again.

J. L. Houck, Narajo Springs ranchman, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon.

Mike Gallager, the St. Louis liquor dealer, arrived in town last night from the north.

R. C. Corbaley, the traveling man for A. L. Bancroft & Co., San Francisco, is now in the city.

J. H. Breed, of Winslow, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and is now at the Aranjio House.

John Conner, who owns several mining claims near Copper City, is in Albuquerque enjoying himself.

The Pennsylvanians in this city talk of forming a sort of mutual admiration society. A good idea; don't fail to make it go.

John W. Young, the contractor, is at the Aranjio House. He has completed his tie contract on the Atlantic & Pacific road.

Louis Devine has leased the Oriental restaurant, on Second street. Mr. Devine will reit and furnish the house, and if reputation goes for anything, he will have one of the very best houses in this city.
